

A

Fig. S1. Taxonomic distribution of plastic degradation ability across fungal strains. Heat trees show hierarchical taxonomic relationships and mean weight-loss assay results (%) of fungal strains isolated from (A) HDPE, (B) LDPE, and (C) PP. Each terminal node represents a fungal species, and node size reflects the number of strains within each taxonomic group. Node color intensity represents the mean value of weight-loss assay results (weight loss %).

B

Fig. S1. (Continued)

C

Fig. S1. (Continued)